Men United raised £24.1 million

I'm so glad Men United exists because it's a cliché but if I can just help one man, I would be delighted.

Our volunteers climbed the steps of an event with our ManVan at the Senedd.

We built on our work in Wales by joint-hosting an event with our ManVan at the Senedd.

We fought to help Aberdeen open their cancer for Black men in Black communities.

I didn't feel awkward. The Prostate Cancer UK Specialist Nurse was really helpful and caring.

I owed Pat a lot. If it hadn't been for him and harder to ignore. making us stronger than ever people have joined Men United and list and out onto the streets of London, got a Be Clear on Cancer pilot off our to

By working with Public Health England, we raising awareness of the risk of prostate cancer, we've continued to shout

Having revealed that prostate cancer, we've continued to shout having been very brief. I hope that all

If none existed before.

erectile dysfunction, where guidelines to help manage

We developed new clinical the healthcare landscape.

hosted by experts across

including new webinars

for our online learning,

professionals registered

Over

activities were carried literature at an information help keep friendships alive.

something great together to more men to join us by

In January, we encouraged members of Men United signed our petition to encourage National Foundation, to learn the impact of study with the Movember

After Prostate Cancer Diagnosis

and conferences across the UK.

2,699

hours volunteering.

Men United spent

out and almost

hours volunteering.

Support from Royal Mail and

UK, helping our partnership with

Foundation donating a grant of

£1 million

for novel questions and novel trial

but Prostate Cancer UK's funding

Big funders go for 'safe' studies,

Our friends at Keyline hitting

£1 million

ever legacy.

Receiving

our largest

£1 million

ever legacy.

Mr Hashim Ahmed, University College Hospital

Mr Hashim Ahmed, University College Hospital

for novel questions and novel trial

but Prostate Cancer UK's funding

Big funders go for 'safe' studies,

Our friends at Keyline hitting

£1 million

ever legacy.

Receiving

our largest

£1 million

ever legacy.

Mr Hashim Ahmed, University College Hospital

Mr Hashim Ahmed, University College Hospital

for novel questions and novel trial

but Prostate Cancer UK's funding

Big funders go for 'safe' studies,

Our friends at Keyline hitting

£1 million

ever legacy.

Receiving

our largest

£1 million

ever legacy.

Mr Hashim Ahmed, University College Hospital

Mr Hashim Ahmed, University College Hospital

for novel questions and novel trial

but Prostate Cancer UK's funding

Big funders go for 'safe' studies,