

YOUR OPEN ACCESS OPTIONS

GOLD ROUTE:

Choose this route if you want to publish the article in a journal which makes the full text freely available to everyone right after it's published.

GREEN ROUTE:

Choose this route if you want to deposit a copy of the full text in an open access repository.

Check if your eligible for our open access reimbursement scheme

Did the project end within the last 24 months?

Y

N

Is the paper an original primary research article directly relating to a grant funded by us?

Y

N

Only grants which are still active or ended within the previous 24 months are eligible.

Has the paper been accepted for publication in recognised journal? Recognised journals are listed on PubMed: https://ftp.ncbi.nih.gov/pubmed/J_Medline.txt

Y

N

Speak to your research funder and ask about their open access policy.

N

Is the journal fully open access?

Y

N

Please choose a journal from the PubMed journal list: https://ftp.ncbi.nih.gov/pubmed/J_Medline.txt

Is the research funded by multiple funders.

Y

N

Does the journal have an open access option?

N

I've been funded by Prostate Cancer UK but the output is not primary research. It's a review article, editorial, monograph or book chapter.

Unfortunately we can only cover the open access costs for primary research articles.

Have we been acknowledged in the manuscript?

Y

N

Where multiple funders are acknowledged, please ensure that the publication fees are evenly shared between everyone.

Has the acknowledgement been checked by us?

Y

N

Our support must always be acknowledged - you can find the correct format for this in our guidance.

Has the paper been licensed using a Creative Commons Attribution license (CC-BY)?

Y

N

Send the manuscript to us to check the acknowledgement before publishing.

You can submit your application to our open access reimbursement scheme.

If you need any further guidance, contact the team at research@prostatecanceruk.org

We'll only support you with article processing charges if the authors and publishers have licensed papers using a Creative Commons Attribution license (CC-BY). This means that the research papers can be reused, shared and copies can be made, whilst ensuring the author is attributed.

Does your chosen journal have an embargo period of less than 6 months?

Y

N

Deposit the article in an open access repository, for example an institutional repository.

You have two options:

Option 1: Consider submitting the article to a different journal that has a shorter embargo period.

Option 2: Consider publishing via the gold route by choosing a journal which is fully open access or one that has an open access option.

We can help to cover the costs of Gold Route open access through our open access reimbursement scheme.

You have two options:

Option 1: Consider publishing via the Green Route

Option 2: Consider publishing in another journal which is fully open access or has an open access option.
